

6. Equipping the Saints Becoming a Disciple

Warm-Up Question: If you could download job skills as in the movie “Matrix,” what job skills would you have downloaded when you were young?

What was the hardest job or task you ever had to do? How did you approach it?

I want to start out by sharing with you about my early experience in the church regarding the ministry of the Body of Christ. I became a Christian in the year 1977. My hometown of Harwich Essex, England was only around 16,000 residents with many pubs (bars) and few Christians. The Churches in my hometown were filled mostly with elderly people and for the most part, they did not venture outside of the church walls to share the gospel. I made friends with a couple about the same age as me that led a youth group. The three of us threw ourselves into trying to change the spiritual climate by singing passionate worship songs rather than the old hymns that were normally sung. We wanted to experience a more lively type of Christian life, which included the gifts of the Spirit in operation among the youth group. This did not go well with senior members of the church who felt that the gifts of the Spirit had ended with the early church. The godly pastor of the church at that time went through a breakdown possibly caused by those opposing the renewal in our town. This charismatic church renewal was happening all over England at the time. Many that were touched by the Holy Spirit left churches that were resistant and started meeting together in their homes. The formative days of my Christian life were spent in the house church renewal. After three years of being single as a Christian, I met my wife Sandy in America, got married in the States before moving back to England and my home town.

Shortly after marrying my wife Sandy in America, we returned to my hometown of Harwich, Essex. We began to fellowship with my friends who were of like mind, seeking to experience New Testament Christianity. At this point in our lives we realized that God was calling us to start a house church. We began with just the four of us with our first meeting being in our living room, which was no bigger than 12 feet by 12 feet. We had much to learn. I was only three years old in the Lord at that time, but my friend Roger had just come back from Bible school and had more experience at teaching. During that time the gifts the Lord gave to me were of evangelism and encouragement. Sandy and I learned how to share our faith and would talk to individuals in all kinds of situations about the Lord and took the opportunity to pray for people and invite them to our meetings.

We grew quickly to three house groups meeting in evenings before beginning to meet on Sundays at a hall for corporate worship and teaching. We saw the Lord do some wonderful things in our small fellowship. People were being healed, relationships were being restored and people were being added to the church. I remember that even one of the medical doctors in the town recommended patients to come to the church. One man, who was well known in the town due to an injury he suffered, started coming to the church after his niece encouraged him to seek healing. He had an accident while working on a huge crane at the docks. His harness was not properly fastened and he fell out of it, rendering him crippled and in terrible pain for sixteen years. One day, after a baptism in the North Sea, he was visibly, miraculously healed! This became front-page news in the area newspaper. It was a verifiable healing that was confirmed by his doctor. God was working in our midst even though we knew relatively little about church planting or church growth. Again and again, the Lord would give us wisdom and knowledge for many situations. I am glad we had this experience as young Christians. If you find yourself in a situation where others are looking to you for leadership, trust God to give you whatever you need for every situation, as we have found that He loves to see this kind of dependence from His children.

In fact, I believe the thing that we had working for us at that time was the fact that we were so reliant on the Lord Jesus for wisdom, knowledge and His counsel. We were acutely aware of our need for Him. We recognized that He really is the One who was building His church (Matthew 16:18). Sandy and I shared Christ on the streets, in pubs, on trains; in fact, anywhere we could find people that were open to hearing about Jesus. Several years later, one of my friends wanted to confess something to me. He told me what he had thought of me in those early years. He thought that there was something mentally unstable about me, because all I wanted to do was talk about Jesus. Of course, I laughed. Today I still love to talk about Jesus but what gives me greater joy than that, is to equip others to know what they believe and help them to share it with others. Truly the church can multiply when we are all able to share what God has done and is doing. The Lord Jesus in our day is calling His church, all of us, into action to truly be the Body of Christ at work in the world and to depend on the power of Christ to work through us.

We Are All Ministers

One of the most important things to learn as a disciple is that all of us are called to ministry. The early church grew up with this concept and the church multiplied greatly. In the early days of the church the Lord added to them daily (Acts 2:47). The enemy countered against the church's multiplication by introducing a heresy into the church, that some were to be the professionals while others were to watch. We call it today the division of the clergy from the laity (Laity means ordinary people as distinct from professionals). This is like the modern football game (soccer), where 22 men run ragged doing all the work while all the rest watch and are greatly in need of exercise. We have been deceived into thinking that only the professionals can do ministry, break the bread of communion, preach the gospel and baptize individuals.

Ignorance of the scriptures allowed authoritative leaders to take advantage over the people, increasing their power and keeping the common people in the dark. Printing of the Bible didn't take place until 1456. Before that the scriptures had to be hand copied and were chained to the pulpits and kept under lock and key. This period of time in Europe was called the Dark Ages. These religious leaders fought hard to keep the Bible from the common people. Many godly men were burned at the stake for translating and printing the scriptures into different languages. In the Middle Ages, even those translating the scriptures couldn't believe the face value text because the culture of the day had so ingrained into the people this separation of the clergy and laity, something that is not found in the Bible. In fact, did you know that our English translations of the Book of Ephesians contained a misplaced comma clear up until 1903?<sup>1</sup> The error was found in chapter 4, verse 12. Here is how it read before the mistake was discovered:

<sup>11</sup>And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; <sup>12</sup>For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ (Ephesians 4:11-12 KJV).

The original Greek manuscripts have no comma after the word saints and before the word for. The addition of the one comma makes it sound as if the various gifted individuals mentioned are solely responsible for carrying out the work of the ministry. All modern translations have corrected the error. However, this misguided assumption is rampant in the church at large today in most of the western world. Many professional ministers have been trained and train others in a non-biblical philosophy of ministry that put the responsibility of ministry on a few and perpetuates the idea that just a few are called to do the work. That is why in our churches today we have a majority of spectators. Let's now read a modern translation of Ephesians and see just who those are that are called to minister (serve), and what gifted leaders are called to do:

<sup>11</sup>So Christ himself gave the apostles, the prophets, the evangelists, the pastors and teachers, <sup>12</sup>to equip his people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up <sup>13</sup>until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ. <sup>14</sup>Then we will no longer be infants, tossed back and forth by the waves, and blown here and there by every wind of teaching and by the cunning and craftiness of people in their deceitful scheming. <sup>15</sup>Instead, speaking the truth in love, we will grow to become in every respect the mature body of him who is the head, that is, Christ. <sup>16</sup>From him the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work (Ephesians 4:11-16 NIV).

What are the gifted ministers to do? What's their role? Has your idea of church been shaped with this false philosophy of ministry that only the professionals should do the work? Share with one another your thoughts.

The first thing we see is that God Himself has given certain individuals gifts to equip the church. An evangelist's true fruit is not so much in being used to lead others to Christ, he will certainly do that, but it is also that by modeling and teaching, he is to train others to do the same. It is my belief that this is the 100-fold return as opposed to the 30-fold or 60-fold return (Mark 4:8). The church is to grow exponentially as each part does its work.

These four-fold gift ministries (there is good scriptural reason to believe that the pastor-teacher role is one gifted person) rotated around the New Testament house churches, teaching and equipping the church to do the work. Their role was, as the above scripture mentions, to be supporting ligaments to the spiritual body of Christ. What is a supporting ligament? Ligaments are fibrous structures designed to prevent abnormal motion of a joint and connect bones to bones. Paul is writing to the church at Ephesus and describing that the office bearers, the apostolic gifted individuals, the prophets, evangelists, pastor-teachers are people gifts from the Lord to help provide structure to the various house churches and congregations, and to bring about a unity to the body, training and equipping the individuals in the various churches to build up one another in the faith. "...the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work (Ephesians 4:16 Emphasis mine). The body of Christ is to do the work of the ministry while the gifted individuals are to train and support by modeling and teaching.

When Chairman Mao of the Communist Party came to power in China in 1949, he executed many of the Church leaders, kicked out all foreign church leaders and closed down all churches. He thought this would shut down Christianity. Instead, the church multiplied and grew exponentially. In 1949, when the Communists took over under Chairman Mao, most mission experts agree that there were 750,000 Christians in China. Today, the best estimates of the size of the church there is between 60 and 100 million people with the population at 1,400 million people. Some experts say that there are approximately 20,000 Chinese coming to Christ every day.

What do you think the Holy Spirit used to bring explosive growth to the church in China? What would happen if the Holy Spirit were to do the same in the Church in the West?

The persecution caused ministry to be done by the non-professionals. Many that were relatively untrained had to depend on the Spirit instead of their intellect, and many wonderful signs and wonders have happened in the Chinese church that have multiplied the church. We have a tendency in the Western church to rely on our intellect and learning, but the Lord greatly used those with simple trust and a willing heart to grow the church in China. Out of necessity, believers were forced to trust God and step out in faith.

In the book, The Coming Chinese Church, written by Paul Golf and Pastor Lee, there is recorded a conversation between a church leader and a high up official in the Chinese government charged with hindering the growth of the Christian Church in China:

"One day the PSB [Public Security Bureau] managed to find me in a region where we had seen high levels of growth within the Chinese Gospel Fellowship. They brought me in for a meeting, and asked if I would explain to them how come the Church was growing so fast in their area. My reply was in fact fairly tongue-in-cheek—Really, we owe it all to you guys! Look at it like this: Over these last ten years, your persecution of the Church has completely failed to destroy it. On the contrary, when you began to oppose us we moved from the countryside to the villages. If you come against us in the villages, we end up in the towns. When you persecuted us in the towns, we spread through the whole province. If you keep on going there, then sooner or later we will even get into the provincial capital city. If you persecute us there, then there is nowhere left to go except home to heaven! Our job will be finished!”<sup>2</sup>

In China, the Lord has used untrained common people like you and me. He is not looking for super-saints. When He walked on this Earth, Jesus didn't go to the Yeshivas (Seminaries) of Israel to find super-saints. He went to everyday places and called upon common people like us. This is just what baffled the religious leaders of His day, “When they saw the courage of Peter and John and realized that they were unschooled, ordinary men, they were astonished and they took note that these men had been with Jesus” (Acts 4:13). This is what glorifies the Father, that Christ is able to make us into fishers of men, if we will come to Him and without reservation ask Him to use us. The qualities Christ is looking for in building His body, the Church of the Living God, is F.A.T. people, an acronym for:

- 1. Flexible
- 2. Available
- 3. Teachable

1) Flexible: When Jesus walked this earth many of the people were bowed down with 613 religious rules, with many other rules added by the Pharisees on top of those. The Lord found men that were flexible with their time, flexible in the way they looked at life and able to be taught the true heart of the Father for His people. Jesus brought a very different teaching which at times challenged the disciples' thinking. Being flexible means that you are not bound to predisposed ideas, but open to see people as Christ sees them. The opposite of flexible is stiff. Stiff-necked people in the scriptures were stubborn people. Therefore, to be flexible is to be tender and open to the Holy Spirit. This also involves our humility. Notice that in the scriptures, Jesus did not relate to every person in the same way, but brought whatever truth the Father gave Him for that particular situation. We can do the same, as we look to the Father in every situation.

2) Available: The Bible says that if we are willing and obedient, we will eat the good things of the land (Isaiah 1:19). He is looking for people in this day and at this time, men and women without reservation, those that will rise to the sound of the trumpet call to put on their spiritual weapons and fight the good fight of faith. We have had too little of God in the past. The enemy has deceived us into believing that God's arm is too short to use people such as ourselves. We have been sold into “just three dollars' worth” of God:

“I would like to buy 3 US dollars worth of God, please, not enough to explode my soul or disturb my sleep, but just enough to equal a cup of warm milk or a snooze in the sunshine. I don't want enough of Him to make me...pick beets with a migrant. I want ecstasy, not transformation; I want the warmth of the womb, not a new birth. I want a pound of the eternal in a paper sack. I would like to buy 3 US dollars worth of God, please.”<sup>3</sup>

Each of us can say, “I’m not a great man or woman of God, yes, but we are only called to be men or women of a great God. He is able to take us into the land! Your people will offer themselves freely on the day of your power (Psalm 110:3). Rise up brothers and sisters! Don’t be satisfied with anything less than all Christ has won for you! The time to rest is the other side of eternity! The fields are ripe to harvest but the laborers are few (John 4:35). Being available to God is acting in simple obedience when you sense that the Holy Spirit wants to use you in some way. You may not feel adequate, but it is about His will and His work, not about your ability. If we are available and flexible, we can trust Him to give us wisdom and provide what we need to give to others. It is His work.

3) Teachable: Let us settle once and for all that God has the last word. When we are ready to learn, He will not leave us on our own. He tells us that His yoke is easy and His burden is light. In the Old Testament, we read about the time of the Judges, which was a dark time in the history of God’s people, Israel. We read again and again what the people were like in those days, that “every man did what was right in his own eyes” (Judges 21:25). We are living in times like that again today. The very idea of moral absolutes, right and wrong, is an idea that is seen by many as antiquated. If we are to be serious students of the Word of God and true disciples, we need to look to the scriptures as our guideline for living. When we lack understanding, we must be willing to look to the Lord for understanding. “In all your ways acknowledge Him, and He will direct your paths” (Proverbs 3:6). The disciples did not always understand Jesus. He expressed His frustration at times when they were slow to learn, but they chose to follow Him even when they did not understand. At one point, after a particularly hard lesson, many of Jesus’ disciples turned away from following Him. Jesus said to the twelve, “You do not want to go away also, do you?” Simon Peter answered Him, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life” (John 6:68).

There is an old legend that takes us back in time and recounts the time when Jesus ascends back into heaven after He had died on the cross and rose from the dead. According to the legend, the angel Gabriel met Him. Gabriel frowned when he saw the marks of Jesus' scars of His tortuous years on earth, especially the scars of His crucifixion. Gabriel said, "Master, you suffered terribly for those down on earth." "Yes, I did," was Jesus' reply. Gabriel continued, "Do they all know now about your life and your forgiveness? Have they all heard about your death and resurrection?" "No, not yet," said Jesus. "Right now only a handful of people in Palestine know about my death and resurrection." Gabriel looked perplexed. "Then," he asked, "Well... How will everyone find out about your wonderful life and your sacrificial death and triumphant resurrection?" "I have asked Peter, James, John and a handful of friends and followers to tell other people about it. And when other people hear and believe, they in turn will tell others. And Gabriel, by and by, the planet earth will hear the message." Still frowning, the angel responded, "But, hmmm, you know how people are on earth. What if they... What if Peter, James and John get tired? What if they tell the story and then the next generation gets all involved in other pursuits? What if way down in the 18th or 21st century, people aren't committed any longer to your commission? Have you made other plans?" The Lamb of God looked directly at the angel of God and said, "I have no other plan. I am counting on them" (Author Unknown). He is counting on all of the body of Christ serving and sharing the message of the gospel.

Prayer: Father, we ask that all those who are believers will see that each of us are called to reach beyond ourselves to those that are without Christ. Grant us power to live for You and testify to all You have done. Grant us to be flexible, available and teachable. Amen!
